Thermal
Fire
Acoustic

Irish Insulations Solutions (IIS) is part of SIG plc, Europe's largest specialist distributor of insulation products. Our aim is to provide customers with the broadest range of construction and industrial insulation products from a single source, combined with the commitment to provide a first class quality service and technical support.

Making the right choice

Insulation is used for three main purposes; as a thermal barrier to prevent heat loss or gain, as an acoustic barrier to prevent sound transmission and as a barrier against smoke and fire. IIS is a leader in all three areas.

Specialist contractors and other customers know it is essential to have sound technical knowledge of these specific applications. This ensures that legal and safety standards are met in buildings and industry and the products supplied match the exacting requirements in each case. We provide integrated solutions so that any decisions made by clients are based on sound technical advice.

The use of insulation products for one or more of these three specific requirements is extremely diverse, ranging from housing to offices, hotels to hospitals and all other classes of buildings through to power stations, petrochemical and refining plants, the food and drinks industries, pharmaceuticals manufacture, shipbuilding and oil & gas exploration.

It's about people

Professional, well trained people are key to the success of any business, all our staff receive extensive and ongoing in-house and manufacturer technical and product training. This ensures that they are conversant with the latest product development, making certain that any decisions our customers make will only be informed ones.

Our field sales team work closely with specifiers, customers and manufacturers to ensure an efficient service, assisting with design, technical and installation issues.
